

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An object of the invention is to provide a thermoplastic resin film excellent in antistatic property and capable of being printed by various means.

The invention relates to a thermoplastic resin film containing a multilayer film containing at least two layers containing a thermoplastic resin, and it contains a printing layer positioned on one surface or both surfaces, and inside the same, an intermediate layer containing a non-transfer antistatic agent.